THE FEMALE POETS OF GREAT BRITAIN. Chronologically arranged; with copious Selections and Critical Remarks. By Frederick Rowton, Author of "The Debater."
The public are indebted to Mr. Rowton for supplying a desideratum. He has grouped together all the most celebrated poetesses from the time of Juliana Berners, in the year 1460, down to the present day; and their sweetest effusions are prefaced with brief and biographical sketches, and illustrated with critical remarks. Throughout his task—which to him was doubtless a labour of love, for he possesses no mean sparks of poetic fire in his own soul—he has acquitted himself with impartiality, discernment, and good taste; and his selections have been made with judgment, as his critiques have been dictated by fairness.—Weekly Despatch.

LOSS OF THE SCHOONER CHARLOTTE.—The schooner Charlotte, Grey, master, 50 tons burden, from Geelong, for Circular Head, 6th instant, was wrecked about four days after at the entrance of the River Don, in the River Don. She had on board 50 sheep, which, together with all the crew, were saved. The accident is attributable wholly to the wind failing her at the entrance of the river, and the current consequently sweeping her upon the rocks, where she was in a few minutes dashed to pieces. She was the property of Mr. Thos. Drew, of Port Sorell, and was not insured.—Port Phillip Patriot, August 28.

The Forfarshire has made a quick passage of seven days from Adelaide She reports having passed a barque off the Rodunda on Sunday morning last, supposed to be the Terror, hence, for Hobart Town. The barque Constance, 578 tons, Godfrey, from Plymouth the 29th May, with 215 immigrants, arrived at Adelaide on the 27th August, being the vessel reported by the Phantom as going up the gulph. The Forfarshire having sailed on the morning of the 29th, Captain Tudor was unable to get a paper of that day, which of course contained four days later English news than that at present received in Sydney, but we are informed by him that the French Government had seized all the railroads, and declared them national property. The barque Undaunted had sailed from Adelaide for Swansea with a cargo of 383 tons copper ore. The barque Queen and ship Brankenmoor were to sail for London about the 3rd instant, and the Success about the 10th instant. The Daniel Grant was laid on for Liverpool, and the barque Abberton, Carr, for Port Phillip. The Forfarshire has experienced some very heavy gales off the coast, from west to north-west, the barometer being as low as 28·3 for three successive days.

The James and Amelia has been eight days on her passage from Twofold Bay, having been driven a considerable distance off the coast, by strong westerly gales. She reports the schooner Waterlily, hence for Hobart Town the 19th ultimo, and the schooner Brothers, hence for Port Fairy, the 17th ultimo, as having put into Twofold Bay, from stress of weather on the 27th, and remaining there when she sailed. The Brothers had twice bore up from Ram Head.

The barque Emma has been taken off the berth for India, having been chartered to make two trips from Newcastle to New Zealand, with stock.

The Kelso and Sir Edward Paget have hauled alongside the Circular Wharf to load for London.

The steamer Juno is alongside Struth's Foundry undergoing repairs, and is expected to resume her trips to Port Phillip and Adelaide about the 1st October.

The Marchioness of Douglas, for London, having completed her loading yesterday, will proceed to sea on Friday morning next.

The schooner Sarah sailed from Newcastle yesterday morning, with stock for Otago, New Zealand.

The brig signalled to the southward yesterday morning, subsequently went out of sight.

The Union, from London, arrived at Port Phillip, spoke, in lat 2° S. long., 20° W., the barque Bermondsey, Banes, from Sydney, homeward bound, all well. She had experienced very bad weather in rounding Cape Horn, and had lost overboard nearly the whole of her stock. The Union supplied her with what provisions she required.

The schooner Minerva, M'Arthur, arrived at Portland Bay from Melbourne on the 23rd ultimo, and was to sail again for Sydney on the 1st instant.

WIND-BOUND VESSELS.—Nearly 300 wind-bound merchant-men of all nations, which had been gathering in Gibraltar Bay, Algesiras-roads, Sandy Bay, and from Marabella to the back of the rock, for the last twenty-two days, were descried in full sail at daybreak on the morning of the 23rd April, proceeding to their various destinations through the Straits, the wind having veered to the east. They presented a most picturesque view.—Times, 10th May.

"Sworn to no Master, of no Sect am I."

HOW ARE OUR CHILDREN TO BE EMPLOYED?

WHEN a thoughtful man walks about the streets of this city, and obcerves the swarms of children to be seen in every direction—and when he recalls to mind the known facts that the numbers of these little ones are every day increasing in geometrical ratio; that during the five years preceding 1846, not less than 33,000 living Australians were added to the population of the colony; that the numbers added during the last two of those years were 14,500; and that the additions are now probably not less than 8000 per annum—he naturally asks himself, what is to become of them all? They must be victualled and clothed — but how? While he knows that in their tender years they will be provided for by the industry of their parents, he knows also that their tender years will soon give place to manhood and womanhood, and their parents go the way of all flesh. What is to become of them then? With the exception of perhaps one in a thousand, no hereditary rent-rolls, no testamentary dividends, will exempt them from the anxieties and toils of life. The sweat of their brows or the labour of their minds must be the price of subsistence? But what are to be their employments? How and where are these multiplying thousands to find suitable and remunerative occupation?

In the country? The breeding of cattle and sheep must have its limits, and those limits seem even now to have been nearly arrived at. Moreover, the pastures have been shut up for the exclusive occupancy of the people already in possession. The agricultural lands have met with a fate still worse. They must either be bought on ruinous conditions, or be abandoned to their natural sterility.

In the towns? They are already filled to overflowing. They are out of all proportion to the population and working resources of the colony. Every profession, every trade, every handicraft, is crowded. Our intermural occupations are grasped at by an eager, impetuous, and daily increasing competition. Every inch of ground is disputed. And though all are free to do the best for themselves—though industry is perfectly unshackled by ancient usages or partial laws—the close run between supply and demand imposes restraints to which all orders of men, except the few upon whom the fickle smiles of Fortune are bestowed, have no choice but to submit.

What, then, we again ask, is to be done with the thousands of new candidates for employment whom our own households are annually pouring into the field, to say nothing of the thousands more whom immigration is adding? Were the question left to the solution of Nature, its solution would not be difficult. She has surrounded us with a lordly domain, from which our hardy sons, if allowed fair play, would extract the means both of subsistence and prosperity. But Nature has been forbidden to speak, and an Act of Parliament has usurped her place. The lordly domain has been shut up. Our sons may not set foot upon its tabooed soil. A group of gentlemen sitting round a table at the other side of the globe, have forbidden our sons to cultivate their native earth! Compared with this, the despotisms that have goaded Europe to arms are as nothing. Whether a people shall have more or less of political freedom is one thing — whether they shall be allowed or forbidden to obey the first law of their CREATOR is another. Of political freedom, in most of its subsidiary branches, we have enough. We are free to express our opinions—free to try one another for our public misdeeds—free (within the inhibited degrees) to enact laws for our own government But we are not free to make use of the land upon which Providence has cast our lot. We are not free, in this New World of ours, to subdue the earth and replenish it. If we can live upon the birds of the air and the fishes of the sea, we have the glorious freedom of being allowed to do so. But if we want anything out of the ground, we are free to let it alone, and to do the best we can without it. Carnivorous we may be; but to presume to be granivorous were to violate an Act of Parliament.

And are we to submit to this quietly? Are we to see the heritage of our children wrested from them, without an effort to save it? Are we to leave the well-meaning gentlemen in Westminster to do us these grievous wrongs, without an exertion on our parts to convince them of their error and shame them out of their misconduct? If so, we are unworthy of our ancestors, and shall be a disgrace to our posterity.

It will have been observed, that all the attempts to defend the regulations which are thus tampering with our vital interests —and very ingenious some of them have been—go on the principle that the regulations are rendered necessary by the inhibitory price of land, conceding, at the same time, that the inhibitory price is itself a great evil. Repeal, say the defenders, the cardinal error of the Land Act, and we shall rejoice to see the downfall of all the minor arrangements of which you complain. There is, then, a common ground upon which both parties may meet and co-operate. They are alike opposed to the vicious minimum of a pound an acre. They are alike anxious to see the lands of the colony thrown open to fair competition, and made available, to the fullest extent of their capabilities, for the sustenance and enrichment of the community. Then why not gather themselves together on this common ground, and unitedly attack the common enemy?

We have elsewhere hinted our belief that amongst the changes which the present temper of the times is likely to bring about in the policy of the British empire, it is exceedingly probable that colonial affairs will occupy a prominent place. The enormous expense of the naval and military defences of the colonies, we may rest assured, will not escape that besom of retrenchment which is about to sweep over all the financial usages of the State. Significant intimations to this effect have already reached more than one of the Colonial Governments—our own amongst them. The military defence of her colonial dependencies, the empire is likely to leave altogether to colonial militias. But then, by way of equivalent, she will doubtless concede to them a fuller measure of self-government. And the nature and extent of the concession will in a great degree depend upon what may have been their own chief demands, and upon what grievances they may have most loudly complained of.

Now, this will be the time of our opportunity. This will be the critical moment for lifting up our voices against the grievances connected with our Crown lands, and for demanding, not alone the repeal of the obnoxious enactments, but the entire surrender of the territorial administration into the hands of our local legislature. This critical moment is at hand. So far as our own movements are concerned, perhaps it has already arrived. By the time our remonstrances can have reached the Home Government, it may have been determined that the changes we have alluded to shall be gradually carried into effect, and the question then occupying the Minister's attention may be, "What concession would be most likely to reconcile the people of New South Wales to the unpalatable measures we are about to force upon them?" Let the answer be furnished by our timely petitions:—"Repeal the Land Act! Let the colonists do with their waste lands what their own Legislature may deem best."

RAILWAYS.—We rejoice to learn that a number of highly respectable gentlemen are now taking steps for the formation of a provisional committee for the purpose of preparing the way for establishing a Railway Company in this colony. As the arrangements are at present in their earliest stage, we cannot as yet state further particulars.

ASSIZE INTELLIGENCE.

GOULBURN CIRCUIT COURT.

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 2.

BEFORE his Honor Mr. Justice MANNING.

In consequence of his Honor suffering from indisposition, the Court did not sit to-day till twelve o'clock.

Thomas Bell, Esq., M.D., was sworn in Coroner for the District of Braidwood.

SHEEP STEALING.

William Hutchins and Robert Dunsdale were indicted for stealing, at Wagga Wagga, on the 28th day of April last, twenty rams, twenty ewes, twenty sheep, and twenty lambs, of the goods and chattels of Arthur Pooley Onslow. In a second count the prisoners were charged with killing the sheep with intent to steal the carcasses.

Both prisoners pleaded not guilty.

Mr. MICHIE appeared as counsel, and Mr. ALLMAN as attorney, for Hutchins. The prisoner Dunsdale was undefended.

The SOLICITOR-GENERAL stated the case, and called evidence to the following effect, in support of the charges contained in the information.

The prosecutor, Mr. Onslow, has a sheep station called Euretta, which in April last was under the management of Mr. William M'Leay. The prisoners were employed by Mr. M'Leay to take to a station of his down the Murrumbidgee, about three thousand two hundred of Mr. Onslow's sheep. They left Euretta on the 27th of April, and took a horse and cart with them. The spot where it was supposed they encamped on the 27th was a few yards from the road; and Mr. M'Leay and Mr. Walter Clarke, his overseer, discovered there, on the 29th of April, tracks of a cart and the remains of three fires. In the ashes of the first fire were burnt bones, in the second a portion of skin and burnt wool, and in a third a paunch with its contents. The places where the fires had been could be seen from the road. At the camping place of the 28th a fresh shoulder of mutton, recently boiled, and some bread and dumplings, were found in a deep hole in the river; and in the remains of the fire where they had encamped there were a few bones. In answer to a question from Clark, Dunsdale denied that he had killed any of the sheep; and when Hutchins was interrogated, he gave a similar answer; but about ten days afterwards, Hutchins said something to Clarke about a lamb he had found dead, or which was unable to travel, and the skin of which he had boiled for the dogs. The sheep were driven down the Murrumbidgee for four days after leaving the Euretta; but the herbage being scarce, they were driven back to Euretta immediately. The sheep were counted by Clarke two or three times before they left Euretta, but not in the presence of either of the prisoners; and they were counted again two or three days after they were brought back to Euretta, when there were found to be ten or twelve deficient. When Mr. M'Leay and his overseer left Euretta on the 29th, they met some sheep belonging to a person of the name of Crosk, travelling up the river, the party in whose charge they were had a dray with them, but it did not appear where Crosk's sheep had encamped; Hutchins had been selected to drive Mr. Onslow's sheep on account of his trustworthiness, having been a shepherd in Mr. Peter's employ for some years.

This was the case for the prosecution.

Mr. MICHIE submitted to the Court that there was no case of stealing or killing with intent to steal the carcase proved.

His HONOR declined to take the case out of the hands of the Jury.

Mr. MICHIE then proceeded to address the Jury, contending that the evidence, which was only circumstantial, was insufficient to convict either of the prisoners. Mr. Crosk's sheep had passed both places where the bones were found, and it was not unlikely that these were the bones of Crosk's sheep, and not the sheep of Mr. Onslow, and it would be a frightful thing to convict both these men of felony, when the offence might have been committed by the men in charge of Crosk's sheep. The learned counsel said, the case was only one of slight suspicion, and that the Jury could not find the prisoners guilty on suspicion alone, and that as Hutchins had been long in Mr. Peter's employ, and had an unimpeachable character for honesty, that character should have weight against the trifling case of suspicion against the prisoner Hutchins. No evidence had been brought forward to show when the sheep were counted, and there was no evidence of the number of sheep delivered to the prisoners, or the number which they delivered back to Mr. M'Leay.

Mr. John Joseph Roberts, and Mr. John Bent, gave Hutchins a character for trustworthiness and honesty.

His HONOR, in summing up, recapitulated the facts proved in evidence, and the Jury having retired for ten minutes, returned into Court and acquitted both the prisoners.

LARCENY.

John M'Donnell, described as late of Goulburn, labourer, was indicted for stealing, on the 31st July, 1846, at Straithaird, in this colony, eight bullock bows, four bullock chains, five yokes, one cheese press, one cart, one adze, one handsaw, one augur, four milk keelers, one churn, and one set of harness, of the goods and chattels of Lachlan Macalister.

The prisoner pleaded not guilty.

Mr. Michie appeared as counsel, and Mr Dunsmure as attorney for the prisoner.

The SOLICITOR-GENERAL stated the case to the Jury. The prisoner at the bar for some time previous to 1846, was superintendent to Mr. Lachlan Macalister, at his station at Straithaird, and had charge of the articles mentioned in the information, but they were only in his custody. In consequence of information which Mr. Macalister received, he sent a power of attorney in 1846, to Mr. Vogan, who was at that time superintendent to Messrs. Macarthur, and directed Mr. Vogan to take possession of Straithaird. Mr. Vogan did so. But the things mentioned in the information were taken away by the prisoner and converted to his own use. Mr. Macalister had had two children by a woman of the name of Maclean, whom the prisoner afterwards married. This, however, gave the prisoner no right to the articles in question; and the bullock chains would be identified beyond doubt, as Mr. Macalister's property, having that gentleman's brand still upon them.

It appeared from the evidence called on the part of the Crown, that a person of the name of John Macdonald was the superintendent of Mr. Macalister from 1842 to 1844, and that during the former part of that period Isabella Maclean was residing at Straithaird. Before Macdonald left Straithaird, Isabella Maclean was married to the prisoner, and went to reside with him at Butcher's station, (a station belonging to the prosecutor,) and about seven miles from Straithaird. In 1844, prisoner succeeded Macdonald as superintendent, and removed with his wife and the children of the prosecutor to Straithaird; they remained there till 1846, when Mr. Macalister requested Mr. Vogan to dismiss the prisoner, and he returned with his wife and the children to Butcher's station. On leaving Straithaird, the prisoner took with him all the articles mentioned in the information; they were removed openly, and a man of the name of Soley assisted in loading the drays; the prosecutor had on several occasions given cattle to prisoner's wife, which were branded with her brand, I. M.; but he had never given to her or the prisoner any of the articles which the prisoner was accused of stealing. It appeared that Mr. Macalister had granted to the prisoner a lease of Butcher's station, terminable on the death of his wife; prisoner's wife died last November, and Mr. Macalister having been informed in May last that many things belonging to him had been taken from Straithaird when the prisoner left, obtained a search warrant, when the things enumerated in the information were found on the prisoner's premises. None of the articles were concealed, and all appeared as if they were in constant use; and in answer to a question put by the Chief Constable of Goulburn at the time of executing the search warrant, prisoner said that the property belonged to Mr. Macalister, that he had had the charge of his children, and that their mother had taken the different articles for their use. Before prisoner made this admission to the Chief Constable, Soley had identified the property as belonging to the prosecutor.

Mr. MICHIE addressed the jury for the prisoner. The learned counsel commenced by alluding to the delicate investigation which had been made in the course of the trial. Isabella Maclean when leaving Straithaird, had taken the things which the prisoner was charged with stealing, for the purpose of assisting in the maintenance of the prosecutor's children, and she thought she had a right to take them for their support. The lady had been in a most happy position, she had never asked for anything that she did not have, and she had no doubt taken the things under a belief that they were her's, or intended for her use. It is clear that Isabella Maclean, exclusive of the marriage ceremony, was really the wife of Mr. Lachlan Macalister. The children were by her death reduced to orphanage, and now Mr. Macalister, by coming here to prefer this charge, asks a jury to convict the prisoner, and to inflict a double orphanage upon these children. The learned counsel then commented on the evidence, and concluded an able address by calling on the jury, after his Honor's charge, at once and unhesitatingly to acquit the prisoner.

The SOLICITOR-GENERAL rose and said he declined the right which he possessed of reply, but addressed a few observations to the Court on the mistaken views taken by the learned counsel for the prisoner, of the evidence which had been brought forward on the part of the Crown.

His HONOR, in summing up, told the jury that if Isabella Maclean thought, from the previous relation which had existed between herself and Mr. Macalister, that she might take the things prisoner was charged with stealing, for her use, the prisoner could not be called upon to answer for the possession of them now. The things were taken from Straithaird openly, were not concealed at Butcher's station, and none of the brands were erased, or the articles disfigured. These facts, and the prisoner's statement to the constable at the time of the search, were all circumstances favourable to the prisoner, and negatived the supposition that they came wrongfully and feloniously into his possession.

The Jury, without leaving the box, found the prisoner not guilty.

There is another charge of felony against the prisoner, which will be tried on Monday.

STABBING WITH INTENT TO DO GRIEVOUS BODILY HARM.

John Roadhouse was indicted for having, on the 15th day of March, 1848, at Goulburn, unlawfully, maliciously, and feloniously, with a certain knife, stabbed, cut, and wounded, one Joseph Reid, in and upon his left side, with intent to do him some grievous bodily harm. To this information the prisoner pleaded not guilty, and was undefended.

The SOLICITOR-GENERAL briefly stated the case to the Jury as it appears in the evidence

The prosecutor on the evening of the 15th of March, went into the tap-room of an inn at Goulburn, kept by Alexander Long; the prisoner and his wife were there, prosecutor said to prisoner's wife, "I think you are a country-woman of mine;" when prisoner said, "let the woman alone or I'll knife you;" the prosecutor rose from his seat, went to the prisoner, touched him under the hat, and replied "not you, you'd not knife me surely." Prisoner immediately pulled out his knife, ran at the prosecutor, and stabbed him in four places under the left side; a constable came in, and prisoner was given in charge. Dr. Waugh was called to see the prosecutor, and found him insensible and bleeding profusely from three wounds on the left side below the arm. The external wounds were not more than three quarters of an inch in length; the instrument with which the wounds were inflicted appeared to have touched the ribs and glanced off, or the effects of the wound might have been very serious.

The prisoner put in a written defence, in which he accused the prosecutor of having struck him first on the head, in consequence of which he became insensible, and was ignorant of everything that occurred afterwards.

His HONOR summed up, and the Jury without leaving the box, found the prisoner guilty.

The prisoner was remanded for sentence.

FORFEITED AND VACATED RUNS.

(From Yesterday's Government Gazette.)

COLONIAL Secretary's Office, Sydney, 31st August, 1848.—His Excellency the Governor directs it to be notified, that application having been made for the purchase of the leases of the runs of Crown Land hereunder described, which after having been occupied, have become vacant (by forfeiture or otherwise.) Tenders, in the prescribed printed form, will be received at this office, until noon of Monday, the 6th day of November next, from the previous applicants, and from any other persons desirous to enter into competition with them, for the purchase of the lease of any one of the said runs.

2. Every such tender must state the term of years, (not exceeding fourteen,) for which it is proposed to take the run; and whether in addition to the minimum rent required by Her Majesty's Order in Council, it is intended to offer any, and if any, what amount of yearly premium for the lease.

3. As the grazing capabilities of these runs have not yet been determined, it will be necessary that each tender contain an estimate of the number of sheep or cattle that the run will carry.

4. Until the runs have been regularly surveyed, and their grazing capabilities determined, the future lessees will be required to pay rent according to their own estimates, as given in the tenders; and in the event of the rent so paid proving to have been less than that determined by valuation, they will be required to make up the difference previously to the execution of the leases.

5. It is also to be distinctly understood that the Government reserves to itself the right of excluding from the lease of any of these runs, any land which it may be deemed proper to reserve for any of the purposes referred to in the 9th section of chapter II. of Her Majesty's Order in Council, dated 9th March, 1847.

6. A separate tender must be made for each separate run.

7. Forms of tender can be obtained from this office, and also from the Crown Commissioners of the respective districts.

Bounded on the east by the Burrowa River; west by a gully running north and south about three miles back from the river which divides it from Evan Evans's run; north by the Battery Range, which also divides it from Evans's run; south by a gully running from the Burrowa River, and thence by a line west to Bolter's Gully, which divides it from Kinghorne's station, Cuenungilliga.

CROWN LANDS BEYOND THE SETTLED DISTRICTS.

(From Yesterday's Government Gazette.)

COLONIAL Secretary's Office, Sydney, 4th September, 1848.—It having been represented to the Government, that mechanics and others are locating themselves on Crown lands beyond the settled districts, under the impression, in most instances, that they will be allowed to obtain licenses from the Crown; His Excellency the Governor directs it to be notified, for general information, that no new licenses for other than pastoral purposes will be issued; and the respective Crown Commissioners have received instructions to prevent the location of all such persons, until they are in possession of the fee simple of allotments, which it is intended, as early as possible, to bring forward for sale, in the different townships about to be laid out beyond the settled districts, and which will be notified for general information, as soon as the state of the survey will allow.

JUVENILE IMMIGRATION.

THE following correspondence has been published in the South Australian Government Gazette:—

Downing-street, 28th February, 1848.

Sir,—I have been led favourably to consider the proposal contained in the enclosed Report from the Colonial Land and Emigration Commissioners, that with a view of keeping up the supply of labour required, a free passage to South Australia should be offered to certain classes of orphans of both sexes, in Ireland, between the ages of fourteen and eighteen.

Although I have not yet received any official communication of the assent of the Irish Government, to the condition of the proposal, I have no reason to doubt that it will be given, and I have therefore to desire that immediate measures may be taken to prepare for the reception of the intended emigrants.

With this view, such a Committee as is suggested by the Commissioners should be formed, on which I hope that the Prelates of both the Churches of England and of Rome will consent to serve, and also some of the leading clergymen of the other denominations.

The first object of such committee when formed, would be to obtain a list of the most respectable persons in different parts of the colony, to whom these orphans may be apprenticed as servants.

In making the selection amongst the applicants for apprentices (who will probably be numerous) the preference should be given to those, who will be able to offer to these young persons the greatest advantages in the way of instruction in the occupations which in after life will be most useful to them; and also in regard to their being placed within reach of the superintendence of some clergyman of their own religion.

The terms upon which they are to be apprenticed must be fully explained, and it will be one of the duties of the proposed committee to act as guardians to the orphans, and in case of their masters' failing to discharge their duty towards them, to take measures for cancelling their indentures.

The enclosed Report from the Commissioners will point out to you the advantage which they anticipate to the colony from this species of emigration.

They are thus enabled to obtain a quicker supply of eligible emigrants than would otherwise have been practicable; while by sending out a proportion of unmarried females, they are enabled to select good and useful labourers, who, from being unmarried, would otherwise have been ineligible; and at the same time, under the arrangement proposed, the casual expenses attending the outfit, superintendence, and instruction of the intended emigrants, will be defrayed from the funds of this country.

I have the honour, &c.,

GREY.

The Officer administering the Government of South Australia.

(Report of the Commissioners above referred to.)

Colonial Land and Emigration Office, 17th February, 1848.

In order, however, to succeed in obtaining so large a number of emigrants, it will be necessary to have recourse to some additional measures beyond those which we have hitherto employed; and we have, in accordance with Lord Grey's directions, inquired whether an eligible class of Irish emigrants might not be obtained from among the orphans now maintained in the Irish workhouses, of whom many are approaching the age of adolescence.

We have the honour to report that the result of our inquiries leads us to hope that this will turn out to be the case. We are inclined to think that males of this class, approaching the age of eighteen, who from no fault of their own have been bred in the workhouse, receiving such education as is there given, and submitting to the restrictions imposed in it, might prove by no means inferior to the ordinary Irish labourer.

But we should anticipate a more decided benefit from the adoption of this plan in respect to female orphans. Lord Grey is well aware of the necessity which exists for preserving the proportion of the sexes in any large emigration to a new country. Single men willing to emigrate are to be found in abundance; but we learn from the reiterated complaints of our selecting agents that the difficulty of procuring single females of an eligible character is one of the greatest embarrassments against which they have to struggle. It is said, however, that a Right Reverend the Lord Bishop of Adelaide! the Right Reverend Dr. Murphy, Roman Catholic Bishop; the Rev. Mr. Haining; the Rev. Mr. Draper; the Honorable the Advocate-General; the Honorable Jacob Hagen, M.L.C.; the Honorable Captain Bagot, M.L.C.; Samuel Davenport, Esq.; William Giles, Esq.; William Younghusband, Esq.; Matthew Moorhouse, Esq., to be a committee (any three of whom shall be a quorum to transact business), for the protection and guardianship of the orphans expected to arrive from Ireland.—The Bishop of Adelaide preached a sermon on the arrival of Governor Young, on the duty of subjects to rulers, which excited so much discussion, that his lordship was induced to publish it, with the title of "Christian Politics."—The City Commissioners of Hobart Town held their meeting on the 14th ultimo, when it was resolved, that the furniture, tools, &c., now in the possession of the City Commissioners, be sold by public auction, and the proceeds placed in the Commercial Bank, to the credit of John Walker, Esq., in trust; to be delivered to the first municipal corporate body that may be legally constituted and appointed for the city of Hobart Town. The Chief Commissioner returned thanks to his brother Commissioners for their kind support, and the meeting broke up sine die.—By the Union, arrived at Melbourne, the English Church received an accession to its strength in the person of the Rev. Mr. Clowes. The legal profession also was strengthened by the arrival of Mr. G. Neate, a barrister, and Mr. S. G. White, an attorney.—At the late land sale, held at Adelaide, we perceive that several allotments were purchased for the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel.—Governor Young was to hold his first levee on the 26th ultimo.—The following is an abstract of the amount of sales by auction, effected at Adelaide during the month of July, 1848: J. B. Neales, £4130 17s. 2d.; William Samson, £1431 14s. 3d.; Arthur Fox, £244 16s. 2d.; E. N. Emmett, £960 5s. 1d.; total, £6767 12s. 8d.

Deas Thomson, Esq., be elected President of this institution.—Carried unanimously. It was then moved by Mr. W. Moir, J.P., seconded by Mr. Lithgow. That Captain Dumaresq be elected Vice-President of the Infirmary.—Carried unanimously. Captain Dumaresq, who was present, thanked the meeting for their kindness in placing him in the position of Vice-President, which he ascribed to their respect for the memory of his revered father-in-law, the late Alexander M'Leay, Esq., and stated that he would do what lay in his power to promote the interests of this useful and charitable institution. Police Office.—Beside the Mayor and the Superintendent of Police, the two magistrates for the day, Messrs. Sillitoe and Smart, and Messrs. Thurlow and Flood, were in attendance yesterday. Messrs. Stirling and Thurlow are the magistrates summoned for to-day.

Australian Benefit Investment and Building Society.—A sale of Shares took place in Class No. 1 yesterday afternoon, at the Society's Offices, 470, George-street. Mr. Lloyd, a shareholder, the auctioneer, being present, was voted to the rostrum, and effected the following sales, stamping at once a high value on the benefits the society professes to confer:—Shares, Nos. 103, 178, and 179 (Martin Guest), £67 5s. discount; No. 20 (David Pollock), £67 5s., discount; Nos. 96, and 111 to 118 (Joseph Bates), £65 15s. discount. In all—13 Shares.

Appointment.—His Excellency the Governor has appointed Lieutenant Henry Maynard Ball, of Her Majesty's 11th Regiment of Foot, to be a magistrate of the territory and its dependencies.

Church Building.—At the monthly meeting of the members of the Society for Promoting Christian Knowledge, held in April last, it was agreed, in accordance with the notice given by the Standing Committee at the last General Meeting, that the sum of one thousand pounds be placed at the disposal of the Lord Bishop of Sydney, for the purpose of Church-building in his diocese.

Burglaries.—Between midnight of Monday and daylight yesterday morning, an entrance was effected into the house of Mr. M'Mahon, a grocer, on the Brickfield-hill, when about £1 in silver and copper coin was stolen from the shop. The burglary, it seems, was accomplished by removing the shop shutters, and prising up, by some blunt implement, lifting the window. On Mr. Thompson, who keeps a drapery establishment in York-street, between Barrack-lane and Erwin's-lane, returning after an hour's absence from his shop, he found the door, which he had left locked on quitting it, open. Examination of the lock showed that false keys had been employed, and on the shop shelves being inspected, the following articles were found to have been abstracted:—four dozen merino shawls (drab and white pattern, with red and white border), fifty yards brown holland, three dozen white socks, two or three white shirts, a fancy table cover, and about £1 in cash.

Caution to Carmen.—Thomas Edwards, a driver of a hackney carriage, was yesterday convicted before the Mayor and Mr. Smart, of standing with his carriage for hire in a place not authorised by the regulations in that behalf, and was sentenced to pay a fine of 20s., with costs 15s. 6d., or in default of payment to be imprisoned in Sydney Gaol for one calendar month.

Licensing Act.—Mr. John Sparks, yesterday appeared at the Police Office, to answer an information for selling after hours. Mr. Inspector Holmes deposed, that between one and two o'clock on the morning of the 30th August, he, in company with Sergeant M'Cook, was proceeding along George-street, when their attention was attracted by a noise proceeding from the Shades, under the Royal Hotel; on proceeding there they found a number of persons drinking, most of whom on seeing them (the police officers) threw the contents of their glasses on the floor, and some threw the glasses as well under the tables; he laid hold of one, however, and found that it contained rum; the defendant's name is on the list of licensed victuallers for the year 1848—9; he holds a publican's general license. Sergeant M'Cook confirmed the testimony of Mr. Holmes. The case for the prosecution having closed, Mr. Martin, who appeared for the defence, submitted that the information must be dismissed, no evidence having been adduced that on the 30th August, when the offence was alleged to have been committed, the defendant was holder of a publican's general license. It had indeed been sworn that Mr. Sparks was now the holder of a publican's general license, but their worships would have no right to infer therefrom that on the 30th August he was so authorised to retail spirits, even though of their own knowledge they might be aware that such was the fact. Mr. Sillitoe (who with Mr. Thurlow was on the bench) said that there was a difference on the bench as to the objection taken by Mr. Martin, and therefore the case must be dismissed.

Breach of the Peace.—James White and his wife, David Howell and his wife, George Munn and his wife, Fanny Garrett, Charles Pinkston, John Fountain, and Richard Lewis, yesterday appeared before Messrs. Thurlow and Sillitoe, to answer a charge preferred against them by one John M'Quade, a resident in Kent-street. From the evidence of the prosecutor, it appeared that on the evening of Thursday last the whole of the defendants, without any cause or provocation on his part, assembled in front of his premises, threw stones and dirt thereon, using at the same time threatening language to himself and his wife, and that he was apprehensive that if they were not restrained they would commit some act of violence on his person. His wife corroborated his statement. Mr. Little, for the defence, called several witnesses, who swore that at the time when the outrage was alleged to have been committed some of the defendants were elsewhere. The Bench remarked that while from the statement of the prosecutor and his wife they had no doubt they had been subjected to annoyances from some, if not all the defendants, yet from the conflicting nature of the evidence, they felt themselves under the necessity of dismissing the present case; at the same time cautioning the defendants against appearing there again under similar circumstances.

An Accordion Theft.—A report appeared a few days since, noticing a man of the name of Sutherland being before the Police Court charged with the theft of an accordion from the shop of Mr. J. T. Grocott, of George-street. The person in whose possession the instrument was found, stated his having bought it from a person named M'Millan, who, when referred to, admitted the sale, and accounted for his possession of it by purchase of Sutherland, who was then taken into custody. M'Millan almost immediately afterwards leaving Sydney, and his wife, when examined before the Court, giving a most unsatisfactory statement as to his being absent from home, suspicion naturally fell upon him as being implicated in the theft; subsequently, M'Millan voluntarily surrendered himself, and from the evidence given at a remanded investigation of the case, as to the instrument being seen in the possession of the prisoner some days previous to the date at which it was sold to him; he was yesterday discharged and put into the witness box. M'Millan's evidence was of such a nature as induced a committal of the prisoner. Bail was applied for but refused.

Stealing a Watch.—A man named Michael Curvin, was on Monday before the Police Court, charged with stealing a silver watch, the property of his employer, Alderman Thurlow. From the statement of the Alderman, it appeared that Curvin, after being a few months employed by him as a domestic servant, left his employ about the 12th August last. A few days after the prisoner quitting the house, the watch which was one given to the servants for their use, was missed. From information that was acquired, a search warrant was procured, and on its being on Saturday executed, the watch was found on Curvin's person, when he was apprehended and brought before the Police Court on Monday. The accused, with considerable effrontery, repudiated the charge, stating he bought the watch at a public sale in George-street, and could produce Mr. Morris, the auctioneer, selling it, and further he could prove it having been in the possession of Mr. Barnett, the watchmaker, for repair, and to whom he had given it for that purpose. A remand, in order to afford Curvin an opportunity of establishing his exculpation, was then directed until yesterday, when the case was resumed. Mr. Morris deposed the watch had never been seen by him until shown him by the police on the previous day, and he was wholly unacquainted even by sight with the prisoner. Mr. Barnett, the watchmaker, gave evidence as to the watch having been at one time brought to him by the prisoner for repair, but he had often previously received it from Alderman Thurlow for that purpose. Curvin was then committed for trial.

Grain.—Statement of the various descriptions of grain, held by government on the 1st September, 1848: Wheat, 39,014 bushels; maize, 6610 bushels.

PARRAMATTA.

The District Council, Tuesday.

QUARTERLY MEETING.

Present—The Warden (Dr. Hill); Messrs. Oakes, M.C., Howison, and James Pye, Councillors.

WORKS IN PROGRESS.

The District Surveyor submitted his usual report on the state of the works under the superintendence of the Council. From this document, it appeared that the number of men immediately employed by the Council (independent of those who were in the service of contractors) was ten, of whom six were free and four prisoners. The works on which these men were employed were, the larger number on the Sydney Road, engaged in gravelling and metalling the cut at Iron Cove (or Five Dock), which was fast advancing towards completion, and the residue making good that portion of the Windsor Road, situate between Kelly-ville and Vinegar Hill.

THE QUEEN'S WHARF.

The government having appropriated the sum of £50 for the repair of the Queen's Wharf, at the lower end of George-street (for months since in a disgracefully dangerous state), and entrusted its disbursement to the Council under the conviction that the repairs would be most satisfactorily performed by this body, at the previous meeting the matter was referred to the Committee of Works, who were requested, after having received the report of the District Surveyor, to act as to them might seem meet.

Mr. Howison, as chairman of the Committee of Works, brought up the committee's report, which stated, that approving of the suggestions offered by the surveyor, as to the necessary repairs, tenders had been called for.

The report having been read, was received and adopted.

Subsequently several tenders made for the performance of the above repairs were considered by the Council, when that of Mr. H. Hughes was declared to be the accepted one.

FINANCE.

The Council went into Committee, when the salaries of the officers for the past month, and sundry accounts for rations, forage, tools, repairs of same, &c., were directed to be paid.

The Council then adjourned until the 4th proximo.

Chairmanship of Quarter Sessions.—The greater number of the magistrates resident in the District attended at the Police Office on Monday, and unanimously recorded their votes in favour of Mr. Raymond.

Contract Manœuvring.—The Bitter Bit.—On the District Council, yesterday, being about to open the tenders sent in for the repairs required at the Queen's Wharf, one of the tenderers requested, that as he had sent in two offers, one might be returned to him, stating that as each of his tenders was written on a different sized paper, he offered to select from four submitted to the Council, the one wanted. A compliance with this request was scouted by Councillors Howison and Pye, on the ground of the injustice of the proceeding towards other tenderers, and the Warden ruled against the withdrawal of the document, not only on the ground that it was contrary to the Government practice in such proceedings, but on the legal decision that a letter having been delivered by the writer into the hands of a second person, he had divested himself of all property in it. A smothered laugh was observed amongst the strangers present, the cause promoting which subsequently transpired. The tenders being opened, it was found that the tender which was desired to be withdrawn was an offer to perform the work advertised for at, and for the sum of £52—the tender which it was not desired to withdraw was, for £45, or £7 less. Another tender was for exactly the same amount, and this latter, as the party making it had previously, satisfactorily completed several contracts with the Council, was accepted. It then transpired that an attempt having been made to worm out the amount of the different tenders, the offerer of the accepted one for £45 had informed his interrogator that his was £45 10s. The latter, therefore, thinking to be successful by the odd shillings, put in his second one by so much less, and therefore was no little chagrined to find on the tenders being read, that his cunning had been matched, and instead of being the deceiver, was, by the subsequent acceptance of his competitor's contract, the deceived.

SPORTING INTELLIGENCE.

PORT MACQUARIE RACES.

Our races came off on Tuesday and Wednesday, the 29th and 30th August, and, we are happy to state, in a manner that reflected the highest degree of credit on the management of the judge, W. H. Geary, Esq., stewards, H. Salwey and — Croaker, Esq., and clerk of the course, A. E. Halloran, Esq. Indeed, we may say, that it was the best meeting we have had, both as regards the quality of the running and the unanimity and good feeling which all parties appeared determined to feel the one toward the other.

The following is the order in which the horses came in for the respective races:—

Maiden Plate of £10; heats one mile; for all horses that never won a prize.

Gordon's ch. h. Champion	2	3
S. H. Cohen's b. h. No Surrender	4	2
C. Hayward's c. h. Ali Pacha	3	4
H. Oakes's g. m. Jenny Lind	1	1
W. H. Geary's g. m. Tellah	5	5

Welter Race of £10, for all horses; Homebush Welter weights; weight for age.

Croaker's b. h. Ragman	1
Gordon's b. h. Robin	3
Salwey's br. h. Whalebone	2

Macquarie Purse of £10, for all horses; weight for age; heats once round the course.

Cohen's ch. h. Glaucus (late Bandicoot)	2	dis.
Tozer's g. h. Yankee Doodle	1	1

In the first heat of this race, Glaucus was leading several lengths, and on coming down the hill towards the home run, bolted. His rider brought him on the course again, but he lost the heat by several lengths. In the second heat, when Glaucus got to the three-quarter mile post, he bolted (we believe in consequence of some horsemen being on the course who did not know the race was going on) and tumbled over a cow, but we are happy to say without injury to the rider.

The sports of the first day concluded with a race for a Stockman's Purse of £5, for horses ridden after stock for six months previous to racing—heats, once round the course. Five horses were entered, and after a sharp contest of three heats, Iron-bark, ridden by Mr. Salwey, was declared the winner.

SECOND DAY.

Hurdle Race of £10, for all horses; weight for age; twice round the course; six leaps, 3 feet 6 inches high.

Cohen's b. h. No Surrender	2
Salwey's b. h. Whalebone	1

Ladies' Purse of £10, for all horses; weight for age; heats once round the course.

Cohen's Glaucus (late Bandicoot)	3	2
Gordon's Robin	4	4
Tozer's Yankee Doodle	2	3
Croaker's Ragman	1	1

Ragman has proved himself to be a first-rate horse.

Handsome Silver-mounted Whip, presented by Mr. Cohen; twice round the course; welter weight, gentlemen riders.

Oakes's Jenny Lind	2
Salwey's Iron Bark	1
" Whalebone	dr.

Beaten Purse of £5, for all horses beaten during the meeting; once round the course.

Cohen's Glaucus	1
Gordon's Champion	2
Geary's Surrey	3

On the first day, a race dinner was held at Collie's, Royal Oak Inn, at which, between twenty and thirty sporting gentlemen sat down to a table well supplied, the host apparently being determined that as much satisfaction and cordiality should be felt for the sports in the room, as had taken place on the course. The company broke up at eleven o'clock, after having spent a real convivial evening. Thus has terminated the races for 1848, and we trust that all future meetings will pass off in the same good spirit, and as free from accident and riot.

NEWS FROM THE INTERIOR.

(From our own Correspondent.)

PORT MACQUARIE.

The New England Road.—The line of road between this township and New England having become in such a dreadful condition as to render it unsafe for drays to travel, and as the prosperity of Port Macquarie is now almost dependent upon a good road between the two places, the inhabitants assembled together at the Royal Oak Inn for the purpose of devising some means towards a temporary repair of it. The meeting was numerously attended, and Lieutenant-Colonel Grey, J.P., Warden of the district, was called to the chair, and various resolutions to the following purport were unanimously passed. It was resolved that immediate subscriptions be entered into, and as soon as a sufficient amount was subscribed, men should be placed on the road for the purpose of making such repairs as the amount of subscriptions would allow, and as would render it safe for drays to travel. The men employed to be under the direction of a committee, who were also appointed at this meeting, and who undertook to superintend the repairs. It was also resolved that the chairman should forward a copy of the proceedings to the government; and at the same time make application for a portion of the sum voted for the repair of roads upon which tolls were not levied, a moiety of which the town had already been partially promised by the Executive. It was also resolved, that a petition should be forwarded to his Excellency Sir Charles A. Fitz Roy, praying that this port might be made a depôt for emigrants. In this petition it is clearly shown the advantages to be derived from the granting of the prayer, there being several government buildings unoccupied fit for their reception. The cheapness of provisions, and most important of all, the facility it would give the employers of labour at New England to obtain it at the same port from which they shipped their wool, and the short time necessary to be occupied in the labourers travelling to their various destinations. This petition has been forwarded to New England for signatures—it has already received the names of nearly every inhabitant in this district. The subscription for the repairs of the road, we are happy to state, has been very liberal.

BATHURST.

Mining.—On Friday, 25th, a meeting of the subscribers, who have so liberally come forward to defray the expense of testing whether the Copper Mine, recently discovered on the estate of Mr. J. Clements, at Summer Hill, was worth the working, was held at the Bathurst Hotel, kept by Mr. Patrick White, for the purpose of balloting for a solicitor to manage affairs between the subscribers and Mr. Clements: there were only two candidates, Mr. H. F. Stephen, and Mr. J. N. M'Intosh, the result of the ballot was 17 for Mr. Stephen, and 10 for Mr. M'Intosh, the former was of course duly elected: the following day, Mr. Stephen, accompanied by Dr. Machattie, one of the subscribers, proceeded to the spot for the purpose of inspecting the indications and so forth; two miners from amongst the recent arrival of immigrants had been engaged to assist in carrying on the works. Dr. Machattie and Mr. Stephen inspected the spot first pointed out as most eligible for commencing operations on; and although assured that even here there was a probability of working with every chance of a successful result, the Doctor pointed out another spot on the same farm which he considered more eligible for mining purposes; the matter was referred to the two miners, who both decidedly coincided in the Doctor's opinion, being satisfied from the indications that appeared, that the spot he had fixed on was the one most likely to be worked to the best advantage. We wish every possible success to the enterprise, satisfied that should it turn out a profitable speculation it will be the means of conferring an incalculable benefit on the district.

Quarter Sessions.—Prisoners for trial at the Sessions to be held on the 14th instant—Ann Earle, came free, Patrick Lahey, free by servitude, William Moffatt, Peter Morisson, ticket-of-leave, Thomas Phillips, George Sampson, and Daniel Torpey, free by servitude, larceny; Thomas Whitton, came free, assault and rescue. The list is at present a light one; but there is a probability that others will be placed on their trial at these sittings, the decision of the Attorney-General not being yet made known, as regards some cases of committal.

Incendiarism and Robbery.—On the night of Saturday, the 26th August, some evil disposed persons entered the premises of Mr. M'Guigan, blacksmith, in Rankin-street; they filled a large pair of bellows with combustible materials and attempted to ignite the same; in this they failed; there was a dray in the yard from which the parties managed to abstract every particle of the iron work, except the tires and axletree.

The Weather.—On Wednesday, about 4 P.M., a fierce wind sprung up from the north, blowing a perfect hurricane for about ten minutes, giving the residents of the town the benefit of a brickfielder; on Thursday night about nine, it commenced blowing hard from the same quarter, and continued until three the following morning, at times blowing great guns; there was a lull until about five, when it commenced again and continued throughout the day, frequently enveloping the town in clouds of dust. On Saturday, the wind continued to blow from the same quarter, piercing cold during the day, at several times slight showers of hail and rain: on the mountains, between the Green Swamp and Hartley, a very heavy fall of snow and hail. Sunday, a cold windy and uncomfortable day, with strong indications of more wet weather.

The late Public Meeting.—We omitted to mention that a subscription was set on foot for the purpose of defraying the expenses incurred in drawing up and engrossing petitions, advertising, and so forth, and in a few hours upwards of £25 was collected, leaving a handsome surplus after all the expenses are defrayed. This strongly marks the public feeling on this all-important subject.

Assizes.—Prisoners for trial at the assizes or Circuit Court on the 20th instant:—Robert Leary, free by servitude, abduction; Thomas Cullen, came free, Laurence Cullen, came free, John Macauley, free by servitude, Bridget Macauley, came free, arson; William Cox, came free, John M. Legge, Owen Nally, Thomas Owen, free by servitude, cattle stealing; Lewis Isaacs, came free, James J. Albiston, came free, Patrick Whelahan, free by servitude, forgery; Thomas Dillon, free by servitude, K. Mackenzie, came free, John Wright, native, horse stealing; William Stokes, Patrick White, free by servitude, murder; Charles Henry Mackie, free by servitude, rape; James Fairbank, free by servitude, sheep stealing. The arrangement made for the holding of assizes in the months of February and September on certain fixed days in those months will be attendant with great inconvenience and loss to many individuals. For instance, the forthcoming assizes will commence on the Wednesday, and from the above list it is scarcely probable that the business will be gone through by Saturday, and if not, a great number of jurymen and witnesses will be kept from their homes on the Sabbath, and many put to unnecessary expense. These are not the only parties who will feel the inconvenience, the judges, barristers, and lawyers, will also suffer from this awkward arrangement. The far better one would have been to have fixed on the first, second, or third Mondays in these months, which would in most cases insure getting through the business in the six days. We throw out these hints under the hope that they will be deemed worthy consideration.

Attempted Burglary.—On the night of Friday, the 15th ult., an attempt was made to effect an entrance into the premises of Mr. H. Williams, of Howick-street, Bathurst, storekeeper. We understand that he usually keeps a good watch-dog in his store. He was awoke by the violent barking of this dog, and could hear attempts making to break into his premises. Armed with a loaded pistol, which he kept by his bed-side, he rushed to and threw open the door, when he could plainly hear the hasty retreating footsteps of some parties. The night was dark, and he could distinguish no objects, and in the state he was in, having only a shirt on, he was not exactly prepared for a pursuit.

Serious Accidents.—A few days since, a young girl in the employ of Mr. Macdonald, blacksmith, in George-street, whilst endeavouring to place an iron pot on the fire with water in it, her clothes became ignited. She rushed into the adjoining yard, when her clothes were soon burned from off her back. The poor little sufferer has been for several days in a state of torture. Dr. Machattie was speedily in attendance and rendered every assistance in his power, but we understand there are little hopes entertained of the child's recovery.—On Saturday, the 2nd instant, a female (one of the recently arrived immigrants) and who with her husband had been engaged in the service of Mr. John Ford, of Kelso, met with rather a serious accident. It appears that on the morning named, the woman was standing near the fire, in the kitchen, when she was seized with a fit, that is usually called a falling sickness, and fell towards the fire; her clothes became ignited, and she was seriously burnt; in addition to her fall, she upset a boiler of scalding water, and a great portion of it was thrown over her body; to add to the melancholy part of the story, we are informed the poor woman was far advanced in a state of pregnancy, and that there are little hopes entertained of her recovering from the accident.

Dray Robbery.—On the night of Sunday, the 27th ultimo, a carrier with a dray load of goods for Mr. Dalton, of Summer Hill, had encamped at Evans's Plains, a few miles from Bathurst. During the previous day the carrier had lost a horse; he had lain down under his dray, when in the middle of the night, he could not name the hour, it being very dark, he was aroused by some one enquiring if he had not lost a horse, and on his answering in the affirmative, he was desired to come out and receive it; on his emerging from beneath the dray, he saw two men mounted on horseback, one armed with a musket; one of the two immediately dismounted and threw a rug over the face of the carrier, threw him on the earth, and knelt on his breast, whilst the other mounted the dray, broke open a case, and took the goods mentioned, then mounted their horses, taking with them the property. The carrier, on the Monday morning, proceeded to Bathurst to report the robbery. On his arrival, he found the Police Office closed, and proceeded to Sergeant Carrol, at present in charge of the police, who immediately despatched troopers Sheady and Rielly with the man to endeavour to trace out the property and discover the depredators. The carrier was left with his dray, and the troopers went a voyage of discovery and scoured the country for several miles around, but without success; they however found in their rambles the horse which the carrier had lost, and restored it to him.

ENGLISH EXTRACTS.

BROTHER JONATHAN AND THE FRENCH REVOLUTION.

(From the Times, May 8.)

The crusade of freedom has cost us a sum that would have transported all Ireland to the shores of Lake Superior, but has not proportionally redounded to our reputation for sincerity and sense. We have sown our wild oats—in the shape of a hundred million sovereigns or thereabouts—broadcast over the world, and have reaped a harvest of trouble, jealousy, ingratitude, and abuse. So now we are wonderfully philosophic. The population of London will not run to arms to fight any nation's battles.

It is evident, however, that our cousins on the opposite shores of the Atlantic have all this experience to go through. No, Jonathan is rather too 'cute for that. Nothing can surpass the jubilation, the congratulation, the expectation, which pervades the great model republic as each steamer arrives from the old world of nobles and kings. The Philadelphians hope to hear soon that drab is the only wear, and calculate on sending fashions of straight cut to the Palais Royal. Cincinnati is already fraternising in hope with republican Milan, and the Broadway greeting St. Mark's. Texas, Mexico, Cuba, all are forgotten in the brilliancy of the scene that now opens to the New Englander's speculative gaze. There is not a crown or a coronet, not a sceptre or a rod in all Europe, that does not fall before Mr. Polk's hat and umbrella. The brightest constellation in the transatlantic sky, the twenty-six stars, seen through the glass of hope, expands into as many suns as the milkyway before a Herschell or a Rosse.

To show that we don't the least exaggerate the excitement, we will just give a single precis of European events, as it figures in the top of the first column, in the first page, of the New York Herald, of Saturday, April 22, and we can only express our regret that our limited resources do not enable us to imitate at the very humblest distance, the magnificence and variety of typographical illustration with which several headings are distinguished:—

Why, this surpasses the invention of Fleet-street or the Strand. A month ago it was impossible to walk from Trafalgar-square to St. Paul's without finding a new sovereign deposed, a new archbishop crucified, and a new republic proclaimed. The old ladies who went to the Bank for their dividends, found, on their return, that the European émeute had spread a hundred miles in the interval. The average destruction of sovereigns was three a day, and on one particular fine morning as many as seven were disposed of.

The Press sorted the nutritious and savoury matter, divided it, with suitable tact, into second, third, fourth, and fifth editions, and at intervals of two hours announced on huge MS. posters, the politician's breakfast, lunch, dinner, and dessert of anarchy, ruin, and rebellion. We only allude to those days of speculative excitement, in order to show how far our most speculative and go-a-head newsmongers have been surpassed by New York.

The feeling that crazy old Europe is tumbling down at last, very generally pervades the pile of papers which the recent arrivals have accumulated round us. The journal we have quoted is, however, not only the most anti-European of all, but it stands by itself in its violence. From its first number it has never ceased to utter the darkest predictions as to what must speedily befall the monarchies and anarchies of the Old World. Others have done so in this country. Our prophetic Almanacs prophecy a political catastrophe a month on the speculation that one must happen at last. The New York Herald takes very great credit to itself for not having uttered a thousand predictions in vain, and for persevering till constancy was rewarded by the event. As far as we are concerned, we only perceive a hostile bias, unbecoming the impartiality of the true prophet, in the avidity with which this paper gloats on the thought of British discomfiture. Its calculations on the combined agency of Chartism and Repeal have been so exploded by the fact, that we need not confute them. But what will our readers say to the pretended sympathy of the writer for the people of the islands, when he looks to a successful invasion as the instrument of their deliverance?—

It was as much as Louis Phillippe could do to restrain the young and fresh spirit of France from rushing into that country; and now that a Republic is established, a slight cause would be considered sufficient to create an opportunity, which has so long been hoped for, to wipe out the stain which the national honour and courage sustained on the field of Waterloo. With the steam navy which France now possesses, being safe from continental conflicts, and with the difficulty which the English Government would experience in manning an armament in time to resist its progress, as developed by their own writers, an invading army of 50,000 French soldiers could be landed on the English shores in the short space of 24 hours, every man of which would consider the glory of France, and the duty of washing out that stain, as reposing on himself. In the event of such an occurrence, the prophecy of the Duke of Wellington would be fulfilled; and with the assurance which the presence of such an army would give the disaffected subjects of that kingdom, a complete revolution, that would scatter to the four winds the monarchy and all its appendages, would be the consequence—the final result of which would be the establishment of a republic, the repudiation of the national debt, and the complete re-organization of society.

We repeat, however, that the paper we quote is happily sui generis, as little American as British. There are other papers in the Union which take a very different, a kinder, and withal a more sensible view of the state of affairs.

Preservation of Life in Cases of Shipwreck.—Some experiments were made yesterday in the presence of Sir Gordon Bremer, and the principal authorities of Woolwich Dockyard, to test the merits of an invention which has for its object the saving of human life in cases of shipwreck. The invention consists of shredding cork and packing it into mattresses and pillows, to be substituted for those in common use on board ship. These cork mattresses and pillows are so constructed that they may be used either separately or lashed together as a raft. At two o'clock Sir Gordon Bremer and several officers connected with the dockyard assembled at the steam-basin. The first experiment was by lashing six of the mattresses together with boat oars, a process which did not occupy a minute. The raft was then thrown into the water, and Captain Stevens, the swimming master of the Royal Humane Society, jumped on it from the pier, and floated about the dock for some time. His son, a lad about 17, fell into the water as if accidentally. Captain Stevens, on the raft, went to the assistance of his son, and pulled him on the raft, which supported both with the utmost ease, and by this means was enabled to land him on the pier in safety. The next experiment consisted in throwing a bolster weighing 3½ lbs. into the water, on which the lad placed himself, and demonstrated its power to support him while in the water. A boat cushion of the same weight was tried next, and was found to answer the same object exactly. A single mattress, weight 12 lbs., was then thrown into the water, and on this Captain Stevens lay at full length—was supported on it quite out of the water, and in this way he paddled, without any difficulty, to any part of the dock he wished. Sir Gordon Bremer expressed his entire satisfaction at the result, and, indeed, all present. The next experiment with these mattresses is, to ascertain their capability of resisting musket balls, shot, &c. Mr. C. Taylor, of the firm of R. Taylor and Sons, of the Borough, the patentees, was present throughout the proceedings.

The late John Jacob Astor.—Before the removal of the body of the deceased from the house of his son, in Lafayette-street, New York, the coffin was placed in the hall, and the doors thrown open; when thousands rushed in, until the place was crowded almost to suffocation. The coffin was covered with rich black velvet, and bound with bullion fringe, over which was a velvet pall of beautiful workmanship; over the face a glass had been set in, that all might have a look upon the remains of the richest man in the country. Mr. Astor has bequeathed by will 400,000 dollars for erecting suitable buildings, and establishing a library in New York, for free general use. To the poor of Waldorf, by establishing an institution for the sick and disabled, or for the improvement of the young, 50,000 dollars. The German Society, 20,000 dollars; Institution for the Blind, 5000 dollars; Half Orphan Asylum, 5000 dollars; Lying in Asylum, 2000 dollars. The personal estate of Mr. Astor is worth from seven to nine millions of dollars, and his real estate perhaps as much more; so that the aggregate is less than twenty millions, or half the sum stated in the accounts of his death.—Pictorial Times, April 29.

THE FAMILY DWELLING-HOUSE GARDEN, AND GROUNDS, KNOWN AS "TUSCULUM," SITUATE AT WOOLLOOMOOLOO,
THE PRESENT RESIDENCE OF
THE LORD BISHOP OF SYDNEY, FOR IMPERATIVE SALE.
MR. MORT
Is instructed to sell by public auction, at his Rooms, George-street,

THIS DAY, THE 6TH SEPTEMBER,
At 12 o'clock.

THE above delightful Residence and Grounds, of which the annexed are the brief particulars, viz.:—

THE HOUSE,

which is built of stone, occupies a nearly central position in the land which belongs to it, and is surrounded by garden, lawn, and shrubbery.

The views on all sides are truly beautiful, and the neighbourhood is unquestionably most desirable.

The house has verandah, and entering on the ground-floor is good hall, out of which opens the drawing-room and the dining-room, each measuring about 26 feet by 18, and communicating by large folding doors, on the same floor is also study, store-room, butler's pantry, and servants' room.

On the second floor are four good bed rooms, besides dressing room; below is the kitchen, also servants' room and cellerage.

THE COACH HOUSE AND STABLES are substantially built, the latter having three stalls, and the former servants' room attached, and loft over all.

☞ Mr. Mort feels that any comment upon a property so well known as the above would be a mere waste of words, he would simply point out to intending purchasers that the opportunity for purchasing such an estate is of very rare occurrence, and as it will be sold to the highest bidder, the chance should not be lost.

THE THREE ACRES OF LAND, upon which the property stands, will alone give back to the purchaser in a few years time double his purchase money, for it must be remembered that the most active business portions of the city are rapidly taking in the whole of this neighbourhood.

 The present rental of the property is £300 per annum, and the Lord Bishop of Sydney holds his tenancy until the 8th February next.

Terms at sale—title guaranteed.

N.B. Cards to view may be had on application to the auctioneer. 3954

All that piece or parcel of land, containing by admeasurement nine acres, more or less, situated in the parish of Alexandria, in the colony aforesaid, and bounded towards the north by a newly formed road of the width of feet, running between the land hereby released and the fence of Vaucluse, until it intersects another newly formed road called Vaucluse Lower Road; towards the east by that road to the water-course; towards the south by the water-course to Rose Bay; and towards the west by that Bay to the commencing point which said parcel of land was conveyed unto and to the use of the said Archibald Clunes Innes, his heirs and assigns for ever, by indenture of lease and release, bearing date respectively the nineteenth and twentieth days of March, one thousand eight hundred and thirty-nine, the release made between William Charles Wentworth and Sarah his wife of the one part, and the said Archibald Clunes Innes of the other part.

☞ The surest means in these times of sickness to secure health and to enjoy life is to leave the din and bustle of the city, and its close unhealthy atmosphere for the fresh and invigorating air—the calm and tranquil quiet of a spot like the above.

Whoever has visited this delightful locality must have been charmed with its beauty; and the auctioneer has little doubt but that amongst the many who have seen and longed for a dwelling place in its romantic neighbourhood, one will be found on the day of sale to appreciate and purchase it

It will be sold without reserve. 3956

TEMPLE COURT is situated in the FERTILE VALLEY OF THE PAGE,
it is bounded on the north for about a mile by Page's River, and on the east for a considerable distance by the Town of Murrurundi. A larger portion of the land is suitable for cultivation, and could readily be let to a

SUBSTANTIAL TENANTRY,

or subdivided and sold in farms, indeed that on the opposite side of the river is now

LET AT TEN SHILLINGS PER ACRE.

and sells for £5 TO £10 PER ACRE.

The certainty of large crops in this luxuriant and picturesque valley, is a proverb throughout the colony.

The Town of Murrurundi is now amongst the most thriving, and will undoubtedly become the most important of all inland settlements; its situation in the finest agricultural spot in the country, the key to the splendid districts of Liverpool Plains, New England, &c., is a sufficient guarantee of this.

THE SALE WILL BE POSITIVELY WITHOUT RESERVE, so that every intending buyer may be at the auctioneer's rooms in the full assurance that "the highest bidder will be the purchaser."

To parties desirous of investing for an immediate return, the estate offers undeniable advantages; for a considerable income can at once be derived by letting the arable land into small farms, and such land will now be the more eagerly sought after from the fact that grain grown beyond Murrurundi (the boundary of settled districts) cannot be sold.

In addition to this, the property is admirably suited for a

for the squatters beyond the ranges would choose this place in preference either to remote establishments, from whence carriage is expensive and tedious, or to those nearer Maitland, which involve a loss in the yield of tallow from driving cattle through poor country and fenced-in roads.

The facilities of carriage for produce are great, from the number of teams owned by the inhabitants of the towns of Murrurundi and Haydon, so that the tallow could be delivered in Maitland for about two shillings per ton.

To those who look to the future, and know, that, despite of some trivial gloom, some passing despondency, the colony is flourishing, and must flourish, Mr. Mort has little or nothing to say, for they must observe in the townships of the Page and the agricultural districts which surround them, the germ of prosperity; and it ought also to be remembered, that the renewed agitation in favour of Railways will not now cease until the end be accomplished, and that end will make MURRURUNDI the great northern terminus.

The renting of three sections of land at 10s. each, gives to the purchaser the right of a large sheep run.

The great northern road passes within 150 yards of the property!

A LARGE PORTION OF THE PURCHASE MONEY may remain on mortgage at 8 per cent per annum. 3948
